

ABSTRACT

A shock absorber having, a frame-shaped frame body that includes an opening portion at a center containing therein a gas and a member provided in said frame body so as to cross said opening portion of the frame body, and supporting a package target.